

Land Ethic Mentorship

Growing Together:

Peer-Based Conservation Learning Cohorts for Farmers and Ranchers

Join a FREE peer learning community designed with you – not just for you.

This program is for beginning, first generation, military veterans, and other historically underserved farmers and ranchers in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, and Wisconsin.

Over six months (August 2026 – February 2027), three small cohorts will learn from one another and build valuable skills and knowledge on:

- Conservation & Soil Health – Apply science principles to your own operation.
- Financial Stability, Land Access & Marketing – Learn what you need to build a viable farm business.
- Communication & Catalytic Leadership – Tell your story and build your capacity to engage your local community.

The curriculum will be shaped by your needs and experiences. We will kick off with an interest meeting in June to learn more and hear your thoughts on what will be most useful to YOU.

Learn Alongside Award-Winning Farmers

Your cohort leaders will be Loran Steinlage, Dan and Rosie Sanderson, and Dave Haubein – farmers recognized by the Leopold Conservation Award for exemplary stewardship and innovation.

Interested?

Register for the interest meetings here:
<https://bit.ly/scfcohorts>

or contact: Nikki D'Adamo-Damery | (804) 986-9213
nikki@sandcountyfoundation.org

Microgrants Available

Participants are eligible for $250–$500 microgrants to support their own conservation or regenerative agriculture efforts.

Interest meetings will be held via Zoom in late June and early July 2026

<https://bit.ly/scfcohorts>

